

Karen Blackett and Sue Unerman make FT and HERoes Champions of Women in Business list

DIVERSITY PEOPLE RECOGNITION

27 SEP 2017

The FT and HERoes Champions of Women in Business list is a powerful celebration of the fantastic strides being made by women across the UK, Ireland, and around the world. The list is published annually by the Financial Times, showcasing female business leaders and their male allies.

The list recognises the top 50 senior female role models paving the way for gender diversity at all levels, whilst celebrating company leaders identified as champions of women in business by the judging panel.

We're celebrating not just those who have achieved significant success in their own careers, but also those elevating others during their rise through the ranks. Real change makers, who can be looked up to as pioneers of equality and inclusion.

All nominations were put forward by peers and colleagues, and were then reviewed by the Financial Times and the HERoes judging panel.

A huge congratulations to Karen Blackett for placing 5th in the rank, and Sue Unerman for occupying the 28th spot. Well done to both!
